

Overdose Fatality Review

MULTIDISCIPLINARY PARTNERS

Overdose Fatality Reviews (OFRs) are multidisciplinary and include individuals who can share information about a decedent or contribute to the analysis of available data to make recommendations that will prevent future overdose deaths. OFR members are dedicated professionals who believe that overdoses are preventable, are well-regarded in the field, and have time to attend regular meetings and participate in follow-up activities. This is a list of common OFR members.
